Random Groups

Table 5.2: Gender, sexual orientation and idiosyncrasies. Start in the middle and roll one die. For -3, -1, -2 or 4 select the appropriate line. At -5, go left and roll again, at 6 go right and roll again. Don't turn around or leave the table (choose -5/6 instead).  $\hat{q}$ : woman,  $\hat{\sigma}$ : man,  $\hat{\sigma}$ : feminine-looking man,  $\hat{q}$ : masculine-looking woman,  $\sigma$ : gender not directly recognizable,  $a \rightarrow b$ : called  $a$  at birth,  $lives$  as  $b$ ,  $\hat{q}$ : biologically not clearly determinable,  $X^-$ : less than once a week,  $X^+$ : more than once a week,  $X^$ : always try something new,  $X^-$ : only without contraction,  $X^+$ : always the same,  $XC^-$ : without light,  $X^{SM}$ : BDSM,  $XI^$ : gender does not matter,  $XI^+$ : in groups,  $XI^-$ : completely asexual. The results for homosexuals correspond to the frequency in the EU according to Dalia (5-10 %), for transgender people ( $a \rightarrow b$ ) they roughly correspond to the frequency in software development according to Slackoverflow, for intersex people ( $\hat{q}$ ) the statement of the Federal Constitutional Court (according to Quarks & Co.: one in 500 people; 0.2 %). The rest is guessed, but hopefully interesting.
